

FUTURES IN FOCUS CONTRACT

BETWEEN

THE ABLE TRUST AND

PEPIN ACADEMIES – Pasco Campus

This Contract, by and between The Able Trust (“Foundation”) and Pepin Academies Pasco Campus (“Organization”) takes effect on August 1st, 2024.

IT IS THEREFORE agreed between The Able Trust and Pepin Academies Pasco Campus:

I. Purpose:

To fund the Futures in Focus program in Pasco County, in the amount of two-hundred sixty-eight thousand, seven hundred fifty dollars ($268,750). Funds disbursed are contingent upon the continuing availability of legislative funding.

The Able Trust, in partnership with the Florida Department of Education (DOE), Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (VR), has run the highly successful High School High Tech Program (HSHT) for nearly 30 years. Students with disabilities who participate in HSHT graduate from high school and enroll in post-secondary education at higher rates than the general population of students with disabilities. One hundred percent (100%) of HSHT students are referred for VR services. While the program produces successful outcomes, less than 1% of high school students with disabilities have access to the program. Futures in Focus (i.e., HSHT 2.0) will provide resources to expand the program and reach students at an earlier age.

This project ensures better preparation for transition from secondary to post-secondary education. The program is evidenced-based and aligns with state educational goals including those of the REACH Act and First Lady DeSantis’ Hope Florida Initiative to provide better guidance and remove barriers to self-sufficiency and pathways to economic opportunities.

II. Scope of Work

- Create a minimum of four (4) opportunities for students aged 14-21 to explore and connect with post-secondary education programs, apprenticeships, and other career/education supports through workshops and on-site tours. At least one activity must be an opportunity for students and families to connect with local Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) services.
- Utilize the nationally researched and evidence-based framework of The Guideposts for Success as the foundation for program activities (Section III.).

III. The Guideposts for Success:

The Guideposts for Success were developed in 2000 by the National Collaborative on Workforce and Disability for Youth and adapted and expanded by The Able Trust as the program structure for Futures in Focus. It is required that each local site create a minimum of four (4) activities that are based on principles from the Guideposts.

Guidepost 1: School- Based Preparatory Experiences: This includes the activities and services undertaken by the youth while at the program site or collaborating education site such as a postsecondary education facility. The term “preparatory” is used to indicate the “getting ready” nature of the activities for the world of work experiences. Activities may include career assessments, interest inventories, independent living goals etc. It is presumed the preparatory experiences are conducted in a friendly and safe environment where youth feel accepted and nurtured by staff.

Guidepost 2: Career Preparation and Work-Based Learning Experiences: This includes activities that sequentially build work skills through on-the-job experiences including a structured internship (age and stage appropriate for student). Activities may include site visits and skill development workshops. In all cases the lessons learned during the work-based experiences should be reviewed back “home” in-program to ensure that youth are connecting what they are learning in school and in the program to what they are learning from the on-the-job experience.

Guidepost 3: Youth Development and Leadership: Every student should be exposed to personal leadership skills such as self-advocacy and self-determination as well as activities that build self-esteem, interpersonal skills, and teaming. Peer-centered activities promoting responsibility and other positive social behaviors are encouraged. Each student should have the opportunity to participate in a structured relationship with an adult such as informal/formal and individual/group mentoring. Based on a students’ interest, students should also be encouraged to take advantage of elite leadership opportunities such as the Youth Leadership Forum and student representation on Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) Youth Councils and other advisory groups. Activities may occur during school or non-school hours as appropriate.

Guidepost 4: Connecting Activities: Student development programs cannot be stand-alone efforts. It is necessary to connect with other institutions (e.g., sponsoring schools, postsecondary institutions, local workforce development organization, the services of the sponsoring organization and others) to provide the necessary support services for the student and to enrich the content of the program. Connecting activities are a mix of direct support and information about future needs such as independent living options. The arrangements will vary depending upon the needs of the students in the program.

Guidepost 5: Family Engagement: All youth need the support and engagement of their families throughout transition to adulthood. To equip youth for a smooth transition, families need to be knowledgeable about the many aspects of transition. They also need to be engaged in various ways with their youth and in partnership with service providers, schools, and organizations. Likewise, service providers and schools need to partner with and assist families in multiple ways to support their efficacy and enable them to meet their needs.

Guidepost 6: Communication Skills

The ability to communicate both verbally and in writing with a wide variety of people, maintain good eye contact, write clearly and succinctly, demonstrate a varied vocabulary, and tailor language according to the audience are all essential skills that employers seek out. Good verbal and written communication mean getting the message across with less chance of misunderstanding. The desired outcome or goal of any communication process is to understand or to be understood. The development of communication skills should be incorporated into all Guidepost/HSHT activities.
